Scope and Objective

This Symposium will bring together Government and Industry to discuss issues and opportunities relevant to current developments and future trends in the Force Projection arena. This forum provides an excellent opportunity for networking and enhancing lines of communication in a social atmosphere. The Symposium will offer formal presentations by government and industry experts, exhibits, demonstrations, and open discussions. Additionally, a Joint-Logistics-Over-the-Shore demonstration is planned.

PM Force Projection Vision

Lead the Army's Transformation in the Force Projection arena as the preferred provider of world-class materiel solutions for the CINCs and Joint Task Forces (JTF) Commanders. Support the transformation of Force Projection operations to become the spear of our nation's military power projection.

Theme

Intratheater transportation and distribution must be accomplished deliberately and precisely in order to deliver our nation's military combat power over the full spectrum of conflict within a given theater. The warfighting CINC's and Joint Task Force Commander's ability to maintain the operations timetable depends on the flawless execution and significant reduction of Reception, Staging, Onward Movement, and Integration (RSO&I), and the minimization of the logistics footprint. This Symposium will showcase the Force Projection materiel solutions that enable Army Transformation to support soldiers, sailors, airmen, and marines to accomplish the mission of expediting the arrival of troops and materiel in combat-ready units. This Symposium will also highlight the Research and Development efforts which will result in the procurement of systems that will enable the deployment goals stated in the new Army Vision to be realized, contributing to the successful Transformation of the Army in a Joint environment.
